Reference (Instrument): Rea Powers.
Divine Entity: Ascended Master Sanat Kumara
Host: Glenn Pendleton

In that beginning you were one of the sparks separating from the isness. In choosing to come to Earth and experience humanness, you also choose a human mind. The human mind contains the record of all experiences that you as an individual spark have known; the human mind also contains access to all experiences every other spark has known, human and not human. All sparks existing in every dimension are linked into the universal mind. Through your individual mind you can connect with the universal mind, you have the power within you to connect with the universal mind at any time that you are willing to disconnect and rise above your individual mind.

Your individual mind has a series of thought systems, a series of thought patterns, and a series of connections. Frequently, this thought patterns, this systems and connections are referred to as Karma. In choosing to come to Earth, and choosing a human mind, you chose to experience the system associated with what has been called Karma. Karma is part of the illusion connected to the illusion called Earth. The series of illusions you have chosen to experience are unique to you. The systems, patterns, connections that your mind has made and is making are yours alone. However, even though they are unique, there is a pattern to the back turn.

Those patterns that you have adopted have shaped your point of view, and your point of view has created your reality. Just as it was possible to rise above or transcend your individual mind and to connect with the universal mind, it is also possible to transcend or rise above your own patterns, that is to say, rise above your own karmic system.

The system you have developed for your own particular Karma, your own particular sojourn on planet Earth, is one you have adopted for specific reasons, to match your own specific destiny.

Destiny has been created by you, for you, out of those patterns which you choose to adopt. When we collectively within the universal mind, designed and planned the game associated with Earth and humanness, we collectively foresaw the inner play of the system of duality referred to as Good and Evil. It has been an experiment; it has been a series of experiences designed for each one of us, and by all of us, to move toward the polarity farthest away from good. That movement is now at its outward swing, and it is time to return.

It is now time to end the system of duality. That system has been so long associated with the human mind, that there is much fear and resistance associated with abandoning the system. Within each human mind is the thought that abandoning the system of duality, that is to say, of no longer choosing to experience that which we call evil, will be followed by the destruction of the individual. The individuals have so embedded themselves in the system, that they have lost their own experience of their own connection to the universal, to God and to Truth.

The resistance to the abandoning of duality, the resistance to the abandoning of evil must be terminated. The resistance within yourself, to your own clinging to evil, to your own clinging to those thought patterns that have produced on planet Earth: war, hunger, ecological problems, ecological destruction, must be abandoned. You have the choice and the opportunity to rise above those systems, to rise above your individual mind, and its clinging to the patterns of duality and to associate yourself with the original oneness within YOU, reflecting YOU, surrounding YOU, feeling YOU.

When the planet Earth was called into existence, through our mutual creation, when the game of duality of Good and Evil was designed, as an experience for human beings to choose to participate in, and the sojourn on planet earth, we collectively foresaw this time. This time when the swinging of polarity called evil would have reached its maximum breaking point. Those of you who have come to the planet to participate in the swing back towards the polarity of good, are now being called to remember yourselves, to remember your mission, the mission is part of the game as well, part of the game you choose to play.

The outcome of the game does not have ultimate significance, whatever the outcome is, we will collectively choose another form for the game. The mission is not significant, the mission is not a burden, the mission is an opportunity for you individually and collectively to choose within yourself to experience God. That choice is of joy, the ultimate destiny is God. Time and Space are illusions; hence it is of no significance how long it takes to reach God, since time ultimately doesn't exist. However, pain, suffering and fear have taken their toll on human experience.

The purpose of life, the purpose of experiencing joy and knowing oneself fully, can no longer be participated in by viewing oneself with pain and with suffering. Those things have been part of our mutual creation; there have been reflections of the potential of the isness. Every being who has ever manifested themselves in physical form on the planet Earth, has participated in the creation of the duality called evil. Every being on the planet Earth and those that will come in future generations, if such there be, has already reflected that part of themselves referred to as evil. It is now time to begin fully reflecting the opposite pole, the pole referred to as good.

There is an opportunity now on planet Earth to move away from evil, to end suffering, to end pain, to end war, to restore the crying planet Earth to her own goodness. The choice for goodness, the choice for God, joy and celebration is a choice that you as an individual have the opportunity to make. Since your individual mind is connected to the universal mind, the choice you make makes an impact on all other human and non human forms. That is why we ask you to look within your own heart and see what choice you will make.

Those of you, who come to the planet from beyond eons ago, have once stated that, given this opportunity your choice will be to bring joy, to eliminate suffering. That choice is presented to you now. Once again, you have the opportunity to make that choice, you have the opportunity to fulfill commitments you once made, the choice has many facets, the choice witnesses itself in your daily life, in your thoughts, in your work, in your relationships. Each moment has an opportunity for you to re-choose.

At the same time, having once made that choice, having chosen to come to the planet to be present at this time, when the planet herself, when the universal consciousness associated with the planet Earth is collectively making that choice, you have also chosen to participate in the major shift now approaching. The form of contribution to that shift may vary greatly. It may even be different than the one you originally perceived it to be, however your participation is imperative.

In the system referred to as Karma, that is to say, the system associated with the individual human mind, within that system, certain decisions are made as one experiences the reality one has created. Those decisions then shape, and delineate one's future experience of one's subsequent creation. And experiencing further creations, further realities, more decisions are made.

Those decisions build on each other, those decisions form patterns, and those decisions shape your point of view. Your point of view is that through which you not only perceive your reality, but through which you also create your reality. In choosing to come to Earth, you chose to participate in this system. The system has been very useful; it has allowed you to experience many reflections of the isness.

Each choice that you have made to participate in a particular reality has allowed you to come to know that part of yourself where that reality reflects. The choices you have made have been purely individual, however they have been associated with your individual human mind, that is to say, they have been associated with the illusion of separateness.

The human mind experiences itself as separate, and isolated from others, locked into a system of duality. Duality is a system presupposes duality, that is to say, it presupposes separation, the separation is also existing in one's experience of God or Goodness and that is to say, within the human system. God and Goodness are experienced as separate from oneness, this is an illusion, this is not true, and this is the fall of the system of duality.

The system has served its purpose, the system has allowed you to experience reflections of the isness, to experience millions of realities which otherwise you would not have called into existence, and therefore not know that part of yourself. Evil is not ultimately bad. Evil has been part of your isness, reflecting the potential to experience and that part of the reflection of the isness is now completing itself.

There is an opportunity for that part of the system to fold in on itself, and in folding in on itself to disappear. You are invited to participate in the game that holds the completion of evil. You are a spark of light that chose to manifest yourself in physical form on planet Earth. Others of us choose other game boards. Some of the game boards exist in physical space and may be referred to as planets.

Physical form manifests itself throughout the Universe and other dimensional universes in a vast variety. Those of you on Earth, in choosing your humanness also choose a human mind. The human mind in the experience on earth is linked to the system of karma, participating in the system of karma presupposes decisions within the human mind based on past experiences. Since the human mind is associated with the planet Earth, the decisions which you have made and from which you have created your own individual karmic pattern are limited to the experiences on this planet.

You have had many other experiences, in other dimensions, both physical and non physical. Many of you have had existences on other planets, in forms resembling those that are called human. Many of you have had experiences in other forms, the forms are not important, what is important is the consciousness or the level of awareness which inhabited each physical form.

Many of the forms that you have inhabited in other spaces in other dimensions would seem strange to you by your human judgment. However these forms may well have had a consciousness much more open, much more aware than the consciousness which you are now experiencing. Those forms that you have known on other planets in other dimensions continue to exist. Many of those forms have consciousnesses far more open to truth than the consciousness you are now experiencing in your human form.

There is consciousness associated with other forms, other planets; other dimensions in physical reality had been very much in tune with the experiment of duality existing on planet Earth. There has been much controversy on Earth about the existence of life on other planets. Life exists not only on other planets in this solar system, in this galaxy, in this dimensional universe; there are multi millions of other dimensional universes coexisting with the one you are familiar with.

Other dimensional universes manifest themselves in a variety of form and in many degrees of physical and non physical manifestations. There are many gradations between physical and non physical. Consciousness is not only associated with form. In addition to other physical manifestations, other physical universes, there are also consciousnesses existing in non physical dimensions. How could it be otherwise, since all there is, is ultimate isness. Everything therefore holds within itself, the consciousness of is. That is to say everything is a part of what you have called God.

The consciousness of all dimensions, of physical form, non physical form, the consciousnesses of isness have been aware of the experience in duality taking place on Earth. The consciousness has been watching. Many other physical forms, that is to say, consciousness associated with physical forms in other dimensions have been aware of the struggle within the system of duality existing on earth. This consciousness has been watching, it has been watching both in a very real physical things from which you may call space stations, hovering within this galaxy, and also from non physical consciousness, both within your atmosphere and without.

The appearance of the physical UFO's on the surface of the planet and associated with the surface of the planet is quite real. Their presence represents the concern and the support of the consciousness of the isness in the Earth struggle with duality. It has been difficult for the human mind to conceive of life beyond its own form of life or consciousness existing in other forms from other places. The consciousness of other universes, of other physical forms need not be feared. The experiment in duality is limited to life on Earth, that is to say, physical forms not associated with Earth; do not participate in the experiment of good and evil. Therefore your brothers and sisters in space bring no harm to the planet Earth.

Evil does not exist within their consciousnesses. Many of them have chosen previous life experiences within the human system on this planet. They are therefore familiar with the duality within the human mind; many of them came to experience humanness for a period on the planet, so that they would be aware of the mechanisms within the system at play during the time of the shift.

They have been preparing as you have been preparing for the participation in this next phase of the experience on earth. Your brothers and sisters from other dimensions and other universes, and other planets within your system as we are within our own system but not within your dimension, have come to assist you and support you in raising the vibration of the consciousness of Earth, so that the duality that holds the system of good and evil may be completed.

There are other systems of physical reality, other planets, and other dimensions in which experiments similar to those experiments on Earth have been made. Those experiences in other dimensions have completed themselves. That is why we are aware of the mechanism in place at this time on Earth.

It is accurate that time is an illusion. Time is associated with distance, space, and form. Therefore in the illusion of distance, space, and form, time is necessary. Therefore, these other planets existing in form and space have also existed within the system, though illusory, of time. It is therefore possible, for us to say, that the experiments, similar to the one on Earth, have already completed themselves. Within the illusion, they are in the past. However, within that illusion, many of you have participated in those experiments carrying memories of destruction. The destruction that is taking place on the other planets, in the other systems, in other experiments of the isness, need not take place on planet Earth. You know this. You chose to come to the planet to experience the completion of your own duality.

We in other dimensions, physical and non physical, lend you our support, lend you our love as you complete within yourself your own experience of evil. Those of you existing on earth, existing in the system of karma, have chosen a pattern of creating your own reality based on decisions you have made while associated with the human mind. So that those of you who bear within you, the memory of destruction of other systems in other dimensions, carry no decisions based on that destruction.

However you do carry, deep within you, the memory of times passed. That memory has also contributed to the resistance you experience in playing your part in the lifting of the consciousness of Earth. Having chosen to manifest yourself on the planet in human form within the Earth system of mind, you have made many decisions. Those decisions are limited to your experience on this planet. However the memory of the destruction has contributed to your resistance. It is difficult for you to begin again. There is the experience of failure associated with the destruction of other systems. Know that there has been no failure.

All has been part of the plan that you and we created in the beginning. The plan includes your participation. Those of you, who have participated in a game similar to the one now drawing to a close on this planet, need not fear failure. The experience of failure is an interpretation. Failure exists only in the mind that labels it failure. Every system that has completed itself in every dimension, physical or non physical has been part of the perfect plan of isness, part of the plan we designed together in the beginning. Those systems that have folded in upon themselves, have contributed to your experience of the potential of the multi-faceted reflections of the isness. It is time to begin again; it is time to begin anew. The completion of the system of duality associated with the planet Earth is necessary. It is time for that completion to be made. Your participation in that completion is essential.
